Offline Training Programme on Strategic Preparation for Audit (special focus on RBIA) & Regulatory Compliance Management May 26-28, 2025

Focus:

Indian banking sector is witnessing new regulations. With the implementation of Basel III requirements, more importance is given to risk-based bank audits. Bank management is focused to bring about a robust framework which will identify, assess and manage the financial risks. For ensuring the functioning of branches in consonance with the policies of the bank, Internal Audit is one of the main systems in a bank for assessing and controlling operational risk. A sound internal audit function plays an important role in mitigating and controlling the banking risks. Risk Based Internal Audit (RBIA) approach seeks to make internal audit more effective in identifying, assessing, and controlling the risks.

Under RBIA, banks have shifted focus from system of full-scale transaction testing to risk identification, prioritization of audit areas and allocation of audit resources in accordance with the risk assessment. The risk assessment covers risks at various levels as also the processes in place to identify, measure, monitor, control & investigate the risks. Risk Based Internal Audit not only aims at improving the operations but also ensures asystematic and disciplined approach towards risk management, control, governance processes & compliance. A periodic Internal audit is required to monitor the bank's system of internal control and procedures. Good internal audit process helps the management in the effective discharge of its responsibilities. It gives them the assurance of the risk and operational performance of the bank.

RBIA ensures that operational risk levels are within 'acceptable' levels / risks are being controlled within a level that the top management considers reasonable in tune with the 'Risk Appetite' of the bank. RBI's enforcement department penalises the banks on account of non-compliance of regulatory guidelines viz. KYC, AML/CFT, IRAC NORMS, REPORTING OF FRAUDS, REPORTING UNDER CRILC. There have been several instances of penalty imposed on various banks for non-compliance of various regulatory guidelines. In this regard, branch management need be well informed, equipped with knowledge on compliance function as well.
