WHY THIS PROGRAMME & WHAT FOR?

Wellness is generally used to mean a healthy balance of the mind, body and spirit that results in an overall feeling of well-being. Halbert L. Dunn, M.D. defined wellness as “an integrated method of functioning which is oriented towards maximising the potential of which the individual is capable. It requires that the individual maintain a continuum of balance and purposeful direction within the environment where he is functioning”. WHO has defined “Wellness” as not just the absence of disease, but a state of physical, mental and social well-being.

While meeting the demands and rigour of senior managerial positions, it is often found that wellness takes a backseat and stress takes over. This three day programme has been designed to address different aspects of wellness for senior executives to help them reorient towards the basics of wellness for the mind and body so that they can make deliberate choices to maintain an optimal level of wellness and live a more healthy and satisfying life.
